BRITAIN IS FAR AHEAD

England's Naval Tonnage Is Nearly Twice as Great as American.

Washington — With the United States at the cross roads leading either to naval competition or a world agreement to limit armaments, the house affairs committee set out today to learn what the other great powers are doing on the warship construction business.

To gain this information the committee called on Rear-Admiral Koonz, chief of naval operations.

Data obtained here today in naval circles including facts which Admiral Koonz was expected to elaborate upon before the house committee, showed:

1—Great Britain, while possessing tonnage almost twice that of the United States, has checked her building for the present.

2—The United States on the basis of her program now under way will surpass the British navy strength by 1925 unless Great Britain adopts new building measures.

3—Japan while actively engaged in building both large and small warcraft, will remain far behind the United States when this country's program is completed.

Japan is Active
Japan has projected seven super-dreadnaughts. Three of them of 35,000 tons each, are now being built. Their completion is expected by 1923.

Four others, forty thousand tons each, probably will be finished in 1927. In 1927, Japan will have four new battle-ships and 12 battle cruisers, but four "eight-eight" program, for many years the ambition of Japanese naval men.

In 1927 Japan will possess 12 battle-ships and 12 battle cruisers, but four of each will represent an early type.

The Japanese navy now includes five ships totalling 157,460 tons. When the seven under construction are finished Japan's tonnage in capital ships will total 418,860.

Britain, which abandoned many of its ships when the armistice was signed, today is believed to be building five light cruisers totalling 35,780 tons; eleven destroyers, 11,123 tons; and 19 submarines, 21,800 tons. It is even possible that England has cancelled some of these vessels recently.

Thus the United States and Japan are the only two nations active today in extensive naval construction.

At the present time, however, Great Britain's first line strength is estimated at 561,650 tons, nearly twice that of the United States.

Huge British Navy
The tonnage of the entire British navy is placed today at 2,345,712 which embraces 595 ships of all classes. The United States has 347 ships in service today, totalling 1,137,914 tons, but 127 American ships are either building or projected with a combined tonnage of 890,459. Prospective American vessels are said to represent newer types and greater gun power.

Japan's future provision for smaller craft includes nine light cruisers, 47 ocean going destroyers, and 46 submarines, most of them over 800 tons. The United States has provided for the construction of eleven super-dreadnaughts, fourteen of the pre-dreadnaught period, six battle cruisers, ten cruisers, ten light cruisers, forty-five destroyers and fifty-four submarines.

HOBBOES SING AS THEY BREAK OUT OF LOCK-UP

By United Press Leased Wire
Tulsa, Okla.—"Weary Willie" the Pied singer of Tulsa, led ten prisoners from the city jail early today.

The prisoners, all serving from 15 to 99 days for vagrancy, petty larceny and other minor offenses, sang their way to freedom, according to prison officials.

Jazz rang through the corridors of the jail from seven last night until midnight, and officials declared during the singing the bars of the jail were saved.

Although detectives scoured the town for the fugitives, no trace of them could be found.

Jail officials are at a loss to understand why the men escaped because for the most part the singers belonged to that class of men who prefer to spend their winters in a nice warm jail, and do their best to "break in" when the first snow falls.

Will Mediate In Armenia

HENRY MORGANTHAU

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington — Henry Morganthau, former American ambassador to Turkey, has been appointed as President Wilson's personal representative to mediate in Armenia, it was learned today.

Investigation at the executive and of the government reveals the fact, for instance, that Gov. Harding, of the federal reserve board, will stand pat and will not regard the opinion expressed in the senate resolution as mandatory. If congress wants anything done, it must direct the federal reserve board to do it by amending the federal reserve act. And if it does that, it would not be surprising to see the federal reserve board go to pieces altogether by the prompt resignations of several of its members. Either the federal reserve board will act for the best interests of the country according to its best banking judgment or the federal reserve system will become the football of congressional politics. That's the critical view of the situation as it has developed in executive quarters in the last few days.

Some inkling of the seriousness with which members of the federal reserve board regarded the invasion of their prerogatives reached the senate yesterday when the south-western discount rate to five per cent was voted down after it was learned what a mischievous effect the action might have had on the entire banking situation.

Politics Excluded
So far as the federal reserve board is concerned, the teeth were taken out of the resolution when the proposal was changed from a "direction" to the expression of an opinion. Gov. Harding has indicated in his testimony before congress exactly how he views the proposal to extend further credits to the agricultural interests and the action of the senate has not changed his mind. Mr. Harding is to be governor of the federal reserve board until August, 1922, and though he comes from the south which has been insistent that cotton growers be protected by the extension of credits, he is acting independently of any political influences in the matter. The fact that Senator Carter Glass of Virginia, a democrat, and former secretary of the treasury, as well as Senator George McLean, republican, chairman of the senate committee on banking and currency vigorously opposed the action of the senate is proof of the non-partisan character of the opposition to the Gronna-Norris proposal. Officials fear that for a day or two.

Senator McCumber Objects to Making Big Appropriation at This Time.

By United Press Leased Wire
Washington—Granting of a soldier bonus at present would inflict a great hardship on tax payers, Senator McCumber, of North Dakota, acting chairman of the senate finance committee, declared today.

The fight to have the senate adopt the bonus act passed by the house last session was opened today before the senate finance committee by representatives of world war veterans.

A decision on the bonus will be reached at this session of congress, McCumber predicted.

"I have no doubt congress eventually will grant a liberal bonus to the veterans," said McCumber, "but the principal question now is whether it would be wise to grant it at the present time."

Cleveland, Ohio—All the elements of an absorbing mystery drama promise to come to light in the second degree murder trial here of Judge H. McGannon, chief justice of Cleveland's municipal courts.

It promises to be the second and last act in the mystery known to this part of the country as "who killed Harold Kagy."

Even the tedious task of selecting a jury under way today, offers an occasional dramatic movement.

Ranking next to McGannon in interest, is Miss May B. Neely, an attractive woman in the late thirties, whose testimony before the county grand jury was said to have been instrumental in the arrest of the Judge.

John W. Joyce, a well known political figure, who was tried for the Kagy murder and acquitted, holds the spotlight with the two leading characters.

Kagy, a garage proprietor, was shot and killed last May after an afternoon spent with McGannon and Joyce. At the Joyce trial there was repeated reference to a mysterious third man on the scene of the shooting when Kagy was shot. McGannon testified he was not there when the shot was fired. Joyce testified he himself could not do the shooting, contending he was leaning, drunk and helpless, against a tree when Kagy fell with his fatal bullet wound.

Other witnesses said the third man resembled McGannon and one witness said he was sure the sought for man was McGannon.

Interest centers about the motive in the case. The Joyce trial failed to develop one. That a woman and perhaps two, will appear, seems certain. A valuable diamond ring also is said to be one of the factors.

Judge McGannon is sitting at the bar of justice as the accused in a courtroom where he, for many years, sat in judgment and imposed sentence on hundreds of breakers of the law. On the bench, facing him, is trial Judge Berman, an associate of many years, upon whom it will rest the duty of imposing the sentence in case of conviction.

Across the narrow table from McGannon are Prosecutor Baskin and his assistants, political and personal friends of the accused. In the past they prosecuted numerous criminals before him and today their energies are bent to the task of jolting him for Washington — Congress would raise false hopes by the passage of resolutions promising financial relief to the farmer, in opinion of officials in the executive branch of the government.

The senate has just passed a resolution directing the secretary of the treasury to revive the war finance corporation and expressing to the federal reserve board the opinion that liberal credits should be extended the farmers of the country.

This action of the senate probably will be followed by a favorable vote in the House and then Congress will have discharged its obligation to the farmers who have been clamoring for help as prices declined. But the truth is the resolution will be practically ignored and will not aid the situation and the farmer who relies on it is apt to be in a worse situation than the one who doesn't.

NAVAL BALLOON AND THREE MEN
LOST IN STORM

Naval Officials Believe Huge Aircraft Has Been Carried to Canada.

By United Press Leased Wire
Rockaway Point, New York—Somewhere among the wind swept Adirondacks today there is a clumsy naval balloon with three navy officers isolated from civilization.

The huge aircraft, swept northward by the howling gales, is lost, officials at the navy air station here believed, either among the snow-clad hills in northern New York state or along the Canadian border.

Reports that the balloon had fallen into Saranac Lake with its crew of three aboard or had been dashed against the side of Fork mountain by the high winds, were discredited by naval officers who expressed great confidence in the ability of Lieut.
Walter Hinton, hero of the NC-4 trans-Atlantic flight, who was in command of the big gas bag.

It was believed the three had been forced to descend in some uninhabited spot where communication with the station here would be impossible. Even in that case, it was said, the men would undoubtedly have suffered as they carried little food.

Although the carrier pigeons, the only means of communication of those aboard the balloon, had not returned to the naval station here, it was pointed out that the birds after being released might have been blown away in the gale.

With Lieut. Hinton, blazer of the aerial trail across the Atlantic, were Lieutenants Stephen A. Farrell and
A. L. Kloor.

The balloon was one of the largest in the navy service, holding 35,000 cubic feet of hydrogen gas and having room for four men in the basket.

CLUBMAN CHARGED WITH LARCENY OF $300,000

Boston, Mass.—Edward Davis Rice,
70, of Edward H. Rice and company, a prominent clubman, was arrested here today on an indictment warrant charging him with the larceny of $300,000 from two Boston banks.

Rice was alleged to have obtained
$150,000 from the National Shawmut bank and the same amount from the New England Trust company, under false representations.

The charges against Rice, according to his counsel, are based on alleged incorrect statements made by Rice to the two banks.

BANDIT, OUT ON BAIL,

Kansas City.—George Evans, no-death early today in a resort here following an attempt of Evans to hold up the place. Nick Potto, who, witnesses say, shot Evans, fled and has not been found. Three women in the place were arrested after the shooting but were released.

Evans was out on $20,000 in connection with a bank robbery last March in which a cashier was killed.

CAN YOU MAKE CRACKLING BREAD?

Do you know the secrets of corn pone, corn dodger, hoe-cake, ash cake, spoon bread.

The wisdom of the old darkey mamma in making such corn meal dishes has been put into a free booklet by the Department of Agriculture.

To what she has contributed to corn meal lore has been added recipes for corn meal fish balls, corn meal scrapple, apple corn bread,
Boston brown bread, the Italian dish polenta, Mexican tamales, savory sauce, batter pudding, dumplings, and many others.

Besides this, the Government shows how corn meal scratches the itchiness and invigorates them; it points the way to economy through use of this, the nation's biggest crop.

It is a household-help booklet. It is free, and our Washington Information Bureau will secure a copy for anyone who sends in his name, and two cents in stamps for return postage.

YOUNG FOLKS HELP DESERVING HOMES

Confidential Clearing House Is Aiding Christmas Giving This Year.

With the aid of the social service exchange recently organized to promote constructive Christmas giving, several groups of young people of Appleton have been able to make arrangements to bring Christmas cheer to a number of deserving families. Among the groups are the Girl Scouts, several Sunday school classes and several ward school grades. The new bureau was able to furnish a plan to each of these organizations by which it could provide the gifts which would mean the most to each person in the family.

The splendid cooperation of the social agencies and lodges interested in Christmas giving has made the plan of the social service exchange possible. By combining the lists of all under one confidential service, duplications and impractical giving has been avoided. Those who are interested in providing holiday cheer for some unfortunate family or person may phone 978 and thus further the constructive holiday plan.

Council Meeting

A regular meeting of the common council will be held at the city hall Wednesday evening. Routine business will be disposed of.

BUSINESS SLUMP HURTS RAILROADS

Many Employees Are Being Released Because of Poor Business.

The business depression in Appleton is beginning to be felt by the railroads which are not handling nearly the amount of freight they did several months ago. Similar conditions exist in other cities and as a result the railroads are cutting down the number of their employees.

At the railroad shops at Kaukauna quite a number of machinists have been temporarily released, and some of the other departments are operating on a short hour schedule. According to A. W. Lase, local agent, the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul Railway company is reducing its train crews and curtailing its expenses in other departments.

Mr. Lase stated that his company handled more freight in Appleton last fall than it ever did before, but says there has been a gradual decrease for several weeks. He is not looking for any improvement until after the holidays.

A. C. Gallagher of Oshkosh, was a business visitor here Tuesday.

John D. Cox of Kaukauna, was an Appleton visitor Tuesday.

S. B. Sutton, claim agent for the Chicago and Northwestern railway, was here on business Tuesday.

PREPARE FOR XMAS PARCEL POST RUSH

Extra Facilities Are Afforded Postoffice to Meet Mailing Demands.

Uncle Sam and the railroad companies are planning to handle the avalanche of Christmas mail in a systematic way. Every detail has been worked out for rapid handling and delivery of mail.

Orders received by John Letter, superintendent of mails, state that one, two or three extra mail cars will be placed on the through mails each day beginning Monday, according to the volume of mail to be shipped. An extra 60 foot mail car will be added to the special express train which takes parcel post and first class mail to and from Appleton.

A loading plan has been worked out by which letter and newspaper mail will be separated from parcel post and handled first. Orders from the department designate the car and door where each class of mail should be loaded. The mail is prepared for distribution along the route of the train, mail for other Wisconsin points, mail for terminals and mail for other states. Each is kept separate from the start so no confusion or delay results.

The postoffice itself will have extra help to handle the rush and will utilize the basement for parcel post sorting. Some of the officials look for the biggest volume of mail ever handled.

The department urges people to mail all packages this week if possible so that most of the outgoing mail will be disposed of before the next week. Foresight is said to be the surest way to prevent disappointment or delay.

TRACTION COMPANY IS SUED BY CRASH VICTIMS

Damage suits totalling $22,000 have been filed at Oshkosh against the Wisconsin Traction, Light, Heat and Power company by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Langner, Larsen, and Mr. and Mrs. William Ludemann, Neenah.

The suits cover injuries to all four parties when they narrowly escaped death in an accident at Finnegan corners last summer. Their automobile was completely demolished in a collision with an interurban car. The machine was shoved along the rails for some distance before the interurban car could stop. Some of the occupants were taken to a Neenah hospital.

Mr. Langner asks $5,000 for personal injuries and $2,000 for the automobile. The others ask $5,000 each for personal injuries.

FOUR TEAMS SCHEDULED TO PLAY APPLETON H. S.

Basketball games with the Oshkosh and Kaukauna high schools were booked Tuesday for the Appleton high school by Coach Vincent and Lee S. Raser. The schedule now lists four schools that will meet Appleton.

They are: Jan. 14, Menasha, at Appleton; Jan. 21, Fond du Lac at Appleton; Jan. 28, Kaukauna at Kaukauna; Feb. 8, Fond du Lac at Fond du Lac; Feb. 15, Menasha at Menasha, and March 4, Oshkosh in Appleton.

C. A. Goodman of Marinette and F. J. Tendell of Menominee, Mich., spent Tuesday here on business.

ROADS BLOCKED BY TUESDAY'S STORM

Automobile Traffic Is Stopped When Drifts Pile Up on Highways.

Automobile traffic in the country was made impossible by yesterday's snow storm. It appeared to be of no consequence in the city, but a veritable blizzard raged all day in the rural sections.

The portion of the Appleton-Menasha road running north and south was the hardest hit. Deep drifts formed at several points. The snow was wet and froze so hard that it was found impossible to plow it out of the way.

Several touring cars and two of three trucks attempted to go from Appleton to Menasha Tuesday afternoon. They became stuck in the drifts and had to abandon the trip. The drivers tried to help one another out of their perplexities but were not very successful.

The rural mail carriers started out Tuesday morning with their automobiles but found that the north and south roads were so badly drifted in that no car could go through them. All have put their cars aside and are using horses. They had hoped to use automobiles at least until the Christmas rush was over.

The New London Appleton road was also blocked by snow drifts, stalling dozens of cars. One man was stalled five miles from Appleton and was compelled to walk back.

GREENVILLE FARMERS WANT 2 DAY INSTITUTE

Greenville farmers are lending their efforts to obtain a two-day institute this winter along the lines suggested by Malschi Ryan, town of Buchanan. A petition containing 25 names has been given to Mr. Ryan to be submitted with others to the college of agriculture, Madison.

Petitions are circulating in other townships. There appears to be an enthusiasm everywhere for a gathering in the interests of better farming. It seems only a question of submitting evidence of demand, in order to gain the university's consent to send some of its able men here.

I FEEL LIKE TELLING EVERYBODY OF TANLAC

Milwaukee Woman Says Her Improvement Has Been Wonderful — Was Dreadfully Run Down For Years.

"Tanlac has made such a wonderful improvement in my condition I just feel like telling everybody about it," said Mrs. Katie Lambrecht, of 1712 Vine St., Milwaukee, Wis.

"For some years previous to taking Tanlac I was in a weak, sluggish, run-down condition. I had no appetite and hardly ate enough to keep me going, and I suffered no little from indigestion and biliousness. My circulation seemed to be poor, for I had no warmth in my body—just felt cold all the time. I fell off in weight and was so weak and short of energy I could hardly get through my housework. "So many people were praising Tanlac I decided to try it, and it was certainly a lucky day for me when I did. I have taken three bottles so far and now I have a splendid appetite, and everything seems to agree with me perfectly for I have gained ten pounds in weight. That tired feeling has left me, my circulation seems good, for I don't feel cold like I did and I am so much stronger. I can do my housework with ease. In fact, I am being built up in every way and am glad to give Tanlac the credit."

Tanlac is sold in Appleton by John E. Voigt; P. O. Brown, Shiocton; Dr. J. M. Sattler, Bear Creek; H. E. Abend, Dale; R. E. Lowell, Little Chute.

Want Ad Reveals All Kinds Of Wood Stoves For Sale

A local manufacturer has just become more convinced than ever that advertising pays. He visited six of the leading hardware stores in the city and four second hand stores in search of a second hand wood stove with which to heat his mill and was unable to find anything that would answer the purpose. He was informed by hardware dealers and proprietors of second hand stores that there were none on the market by reason of the great demand this winter.

The manufacturer thought he would try a want ad. The newspaper was scarcely off the press before he began receiving telephone calls from people with wood stoves to sell which in many instances had been replaced by furnaces. The following day he had several calls from people in the country. The stoves were offered at prices that ranged all the way from $5 to $35. A second avenue resident had one in his garage which he offered to sell for $5 and which from the description the manufacturer decided was just what he wanted. He looked it over and purchased it at once.

A local shoe firm that was in need of a wood stove and was unable to get one from any of the dealers, upon reading the ad, called up the manufacturer and wanted him to locate one for it. The stove the manufacturer had been using was too small for his requirements, but was just what the shoe firm wanted and a $10 deal was closed in short order. The ad cost 40 cents and the manufacturer said it was the best investment he ever made. It also proved to him that the merchants were misled about there being a scarcity of wood stoves for sale.

CLOTHES HELP MAKE THE MAN, ROTARY IS TOLD

Karl A. Schuetter Discussed Evolution of Tailoring and Wool Industry.

Well tailored clothes play an important part in the social and business life of a man. The right suit of clothes at the psychological moment can change the very paths of life.

So stated Karl A. Schuetter in an address before the Rotary club Tuesday noon at the Y. M. C. A. He explained the evolution of the clothing idea from the earliest times and showed how men are made more becoming in appearance, with greater emphasis of personality, thru modern dress. He referred to the story entitled "Skinner's Dress Suit," and the play "The Tailor-made Man" which emphasized the value of attractive attire.

The speaker also told how methods in the tailoring business had changed. The customer formerly studied fashion plates and selected a style of suit that he thought would be becoming to him. Now he depends on the good judgment of his tailor.

Must Study His Work
"Today the tailor has to make his work a study," said Mr. Schuetter. "He has to be an authority on style and detail, as the customer looks to him for results and he must know his business. I know of no vocation in life that plays a more important part in the welfare of society than the progressive tailor."

Some interesting facts about the wool industry were presented by the speaker. He stated that the world never produced enough wool to supply its demands. The United States comes nearest, furnishing three-fifths of the wool for its own consumption. People invariably demand wool for clothing.

This situation is overcome by using wool several times over. It is not done in the United States to the extent that other countries do it. For every four pounds of raw material worked, three pounds consists of new wool and one pound manufactured wool.

"Just now the woolen trades are busy with your next spring suit," Mr. Schuetter continued. "You will wear it all summer and then hand it over to the janitor. He will wear it a summer or two and it finally makes its way to the rag bag."

"The woolen rag trade will get hold of it and put it through a complicated system of sorting. The remnants will go to the mill to be torn up into wool fiber again and this will be woven with new wool to make a different kind of cloth. It may reappear again in fairly good grades of overcoating and you may wear it again yourself. It finds its way back for the third time and is woven with new wool."

"Each time the fibers are woven, they become shorter. When they are too short to weave, they can be felted into durable cloth that will keep somebody warm at bargain prices."

Wool of the best quality is produced in regions where there is an abundance of rainfall. Mr. Schuetter stated, Australia produces the best. The nearest to that standard is produced in Oregon. Idaho and Wyoming have increased their wool production but all other states have decreased. Imported fabrics are superior to domestic in blending of colors and designing of patterns.

The Congregational choir will meet at 7:30 o'clock Wednesday evening for rehearsal. All town members have been especially urged to be present.

TELULAH MILL TO BE TAKEN OVER BY NEW OWNER JAN. 1

Many Improvements in Fox River Company's New Plant Are Being Made.

The transfer of Telulah paper mill which Fox River Paper company purchased from Kimberly-Clark company six months ago will be made Jan. 1, 1921. The new owners have been busy for three months enlarging the plant and making necessary changes for the manufacture of writing paper for which it will be used exclusively. As soon as the transfer is made the two paper machines will be dismantled and made over into writing paper machines. By the addition of the Telulah mill the Fox River Paper company will increase its capacity nearly fifty per cent.

The new owners have just completed a large three story addition to the east end of the mill which will be used as the rag department. The machinery is now being installed. The sorting room is located on the second floor, is provided with a high ceiling and is well lighted. The concrete floor is covered with a hard dustless surface. This will be a new department in the mill made necessary by the change to writing paper, requiring an increased number of employees.

Good progress is being made on the filtering plant that is being built on the north side of the mill. The gravel to be used comes from the Atlantic coast and three carloads have already arrived. Several other carloads are expected within the next few days. Atlantic ocean gravel is used because it is much cleaner than that procured inland. It is graded in size from coarse to the finest quality. The company has been notified that the machinery has been shipped from the east and it will be installed immediately upon its arrival.

Several changes are being made in the heater room which is being equipped with new Niagara heaters. The finishing room will be somewhat smaller than at present on account of the additional room required by the paper machines. New calendars are to be added. The office has been enlarged and handomely equipped. The mill will be operated by both water and steam. Two steam turbine units are being installed in the power plant.

CHANGE BRANCH TO STEVENS POINT

Mory Ice Cream Company Lacked Suitable Building at Wisconsin Rapids.

Finding it impossible to obtain a suitable building in Wisconsin Rapids, the Mory Ice Cream company has located its branch plant at Stevens Point. The Hagemester warehouse has been acquired and will be put in condition for use.

Karl B. Mory, vice-president and general manager of the Appleton company, and Mr. Fride, superintendent, spent several days in Stevens Point completing arrangements. Both Wisconsin Rapids and Marshfield were considered, but the Stevens Point chamber of commerce got busy and induced the company to locate there. The plan was to obtain a central shipping point for a large contiguous territory.

The Hagemester building has been leased for five years. Contractors are already remodeling the interior. About $25,000 to $30,000 will be spent for machinery and equipment. It is planned to start operation within a few weeks. One member of the firm will probably move to Stevens Point to take active charge.

Richard Marquardt and Miss Marie Marquardt of Neenah, were visitors in Appleton Monday.

HOUSE DEMAND IS NOT SO INTENSE

Anton Stadler Declares Housing Situation Is Solving Itself.

"The demand for houses is letting up some," said Anton Stadler in discussing a situation that has been most perplexing in the city for the last two years. "I do not have nearly as many inquiries as I had six months ago," he said.

Mr. Stadler has just completed the two houses that he made out of the former A. W. Patten residence which he cut in two and moved several blocks further east on Washington street. One is occupied by the maternity hospital and the other by Norbert Roemer.

"I do not intend to do much building next year," said Mr. Stadler. "I may possibly build one house but no more. Instead of building new houses I intend to equip some of those I now own with modern conveniences."

Mr. Stadler began buying lots and putting up houses on them shortly after his removal here from Seymour more than twenty-five years ago, and for the first few years was jeered by his friends. He is now said to own in the neighborhood of seventy-five, all of which are occupied by good tenants.

OSHKOSH STUDENTS HERE TO VISIT PAPER PLANT

A class of Oshkosh normal students under the direction of a member of the faculty visited the Fox River Paper company's plant Tuesday afternoon. The majority of the young people had never seen paper manufactured and were greatly interested in the process.

TWO MEN FROM COUNTY ATTEND DAIRY SCHOOL

Two Outagamie county boys, Francis J. Harris and Jacob C. Lasky, are enrolled for the dairy course at the University of Wisconsin this year. The course covers 12 weeks and takes up all phases of the dairying business. The students receive lectures on the theory and practice of manufacturing butter, cheese, ice cream and other dairy products. They also gain practical knowledge by working in the creamery, cheese factory and shops of the dairy department. Examinations of butter and cheese received from all parts of the state are a feature of the course.

Debating societies, an orchestra and glee club take up the spare time of the students. The debating society meets every Friday night and is a source of intense interest.

Harold Fuszard of Antigo, is visiting at the home of Orville Creviere at Kaukauna.

EQUITY AND THE NON-PARTISAN LEAGUE

Announcement that the Society of Equity is preparing to divorce that organization entirely from the Non-Partisan league and to inaugurate a campaign against the league at the approaching national Equity convention to be held in Madison will be well received by aggressive Americans everywhere. The plan is to take away Equity charters from locals which are in any way affiliated with the Non-Partisan league.

The foremost duty of the farmers of Wisconsin is to cleanse this state of the Non-Partisan league. Recent revelations in North Dakota, where the wildest banking of the league has created financial distress and the closing of numerous banks, are enough to arrest the attention of farmers throughout Wisconsin and to impress upon them the perils they invite by lending encouragement to the institution of political and agrarian socialism in this state.

The Townley outfit, now on the run in North Dakota, have announced their intention to migrate into Nebraska to capture that state and later to come into Wisconsin with a fresh campaign to socialize this state. The farmers of Wisconsin should be prepared to meet these propagandists of discontent and economic revolution. The whole Non-Partisan league movement is now in the balance, with the odds heavily on the side of its rapid decline and disappearance. We should do our bit in this portion of the northwest to hurry along the process of disintegration.

The Society of Equity is well organized. It is directed by capable, resourceful and stable leaders. It has great opportunities for serving the farmers and for making itself an economic power. It will strengthen itself by exerting its strongest influence against the Non-Partisan league. One or the other of these organizations will dominate in this portion of the country at least. If agriculture is to be promoted along sound lines Townleyism must go, and the Society of Equity is the force which can show it the door. Wisconsin will distinguish itself by taking the lead in ridding the northwest of the Non-Partisan league.

NOBEL PRIZES

It was an interesting coincidence that on the day President Wilson's message assured congress of his continuing faith that "right makes might," supposed to be an indirect reference to the project of providing world peace through a League of Nations, it was announced that the trustees of the Nobel fund had awarded him the peace prize of $40,000. President Roosevelt received this prize for arranging a peace conference between Japan and Russia which ended the war between these nations. Senator Elihu Root received it later for his service in promoting international arbitration. President Wilson's claim rests on the fact that he conceived and proclaimed a great idea looking toward universal peace which forty-odd nations now in session at Geneva have accepted, although by his own country—temporarily at least—it has been rejected. That Woodrow Wilson has made a far-reaching effort to secure general and continuing peace is recognized in the world at large, if not in his own country.

Provision was made for five Nobel prizes annually, but all of them are not awarded every year. The sum of $200,000 annually has been set aside for the purpose of distributing prizes of $40,000 each without distinction of nationality, for eminence or achievement in physics, chemistry, medical science, literature and service in the cause of international brotherhood. Such were the directions of the will of Alfred Bernard Nobel, a Swedish chemist and engineer, who died in 1896 after amassing a great fortune by the manufacture of high explosives and the exploitation of the Baku oil fields under concessions from the Russian government.

The "international brotherhood" or peace prize has now been awarded three times to Americans. The prize for chemistry came to Prof. Albert A. Michelson of the Chicago University in 1907, and the prize for medicine to Prof. Alexis Carrel of the Rockefeller institute, New York, in 1912. But no American has received the Nobel prize for literature.

It is sufficient, however, for America's prestige that three times the prize has come to this country, for in the evolution of world civilization the progress toward universal peace must take first place. It is a matter of no small national pride that America has up to this time led the great peace movement, and it is to be hoped this leadership will not now be compromised in the issues which confront the United States as a result of the world war. President Wilson has done his full part. It remains for the country to make his work and purpose a reality.

DISARMAMENT AND THE LEAGUE

Consideration of disarmament by the League of Nations discloses the fact that there can be no move in that direction, even gradually, so long as the United States remains outside the League. Japan has informed the assembly at Geneva that she will not consent to disarmament. Her reason is that she cannot afford to take this step while the United States continues to increase its naval strength, and the reason is obviously good.

The United States on its part cannot join in disarmament unless it acquires the powers of self-protection conferred by the League of Nations. On the contrary it is announced that the navy department will submit to congress a huge program for naval expansion. In all it is proposed to build within the next three years 88 new fighting craft. This will be by far the largest plan yet offered for national military expansion.

There is no doubt that it will receive strong support. The propaganda which is determined to bring Japan into collision with the United States will have a powerful effect upon congress, and it may be reasonably assumed that it alone will be sufficient to cause the authorization of practically the entire naval program. What these warships will mean to the people in billions of increased taxes needs no precise definition. It will constitute a heavy burden.

There is only one way in which the burden can be escaped and it is well put by the secretary:

If the United States takes its stand with the other countries in an organization to prevent war and promote peace our present navy, with some additions, will be adequate for our defense and the prevention of aggression.

But if we are not to enter into a covenant with other powers which are pledged to peace, if this country is to stand alone, outside any effective organization of nations, we must be prepared to defend our interests against any possible opposition or combination. This will mean the continuance of naval construction indefinitely. The old story of dreadnaught added to dreadnaught, of taxation heaped upon taxation, of armament added to armament, will begin again.

It is a truthful presentation of the matter. If we do not join in the world attempt to enforce peace we shall have to go on arming, arming, arming. Is that what Americans want? Do they want to spend billions of dollars for naval defense or do they want to get rid of this load? If their final decision is to stay outside the League of Nations then they should never again complain of the cost of running the American government, for the great bulk of that expense will go for the creation and maintenance of armaments.

NO TRICK OF FORTUNE

By Roger W. Babson

"That fellow just seems to have been born lucky." My friend was speaking of the rise of a mutual acquaintance. "His whole life seems to be charmed. You know he has made a success of everything he has attempted. It is almost uncanny."

"He is a fine type," I answered. "I disagree with you as to the luck in his career. Do you remember how he used to say he was going to succeed, and how he worked all day and studied at night? Other boys were thinking of having a good time; and it was not always easy for him to stick to his work. If you think you will remember the repeated blows and setbacks he had. Nothing seemed to daunt him, however; or to kill his confidence in his final success."

"I'll wager that perseverance and pluck had more to do with his present position than luck."

"His success didn't just happen but was built up step by step."

"I believe you are right," said my friend. "Similarly, I suppose you will say that young Mackay's failure is due to his own shortcomings and not hard luck?"

"Certainly! Mackay is just another extreme type. He seems to have had luck. But he had a better opportunity to make a success than young Saunders. He was a good enough fellow in many ways, but he never had the perseverance and confidence in his own ability which is a necessary factor for reaching an ideal. He had some inspiration, but not enough faith in himself. He would try first one thing; then another, until now, at middle age, he has never accomplished anything he at one time expected to do."

"I tell you it is the type of man, and not any trick of fortune, that causes one man to rise above another."

Only inquiries of general interest are answered in this column, but all letters will be answered by mail if written in ink and stamped self-addressed envelope is enclosed. Requests for diagnosis or treatment of individual cases cannot be considered. Address Dr. William Brady, in care of this paper.

CAUSES OF CATARACT

Although the degeneration or opacity of the lens of the eye called cataract occurs more frequently in advanced age than in childhood and infancy, old age is not a cause. Age is never a cause of any disease. Least of all does anybody die of "old age." The only authentic instance of ultimate dissolution from general debility is the one reported by our late medical colleague, Dr. O. W. Holmes, the famous one-hoss shay.

Poor lens material is handed down from parent to child in some families; cataract is sometimes inherited.

Certain systemic diseases which interfere seriously with the general nutrition of the body, particularly diabetes and nephritis (Bright's disease), seem to predispose to cataract in elderly patients.

Men whose work demands exposure of the eyes to the intense heat and light of furnaces, or to the glare or blinding flashes of the electric arc or of short circuits are notably subject to cataract.

Injuries of the eyes, at any age, may be responsible for cataract as a complication or sequel.

Prolonged eyestrain is now considered by oculists one of the factors of cataract. They cite the general decrease in the frequency of cataracts in America since cities and towns have had better artificial illumination as evidence against eyestrain. In cities and towns a large share of the people do much of their work by artificial light. And right here is the place to remark that the illumination of reading or work in too many homes is—well, maybe very pretty in the eyes of the beholder, but nevertheless abominable for the eyes of the workers. Why do so many housewives go in for red, green and blue fire-works instead of considering how to obtain the most satisfactory illumination for the least money?

Glasses fitted by guesswork probably contribute towards changes within the eyes which favor the development of cataract in later years. It is rarely possible to fit glasses accurately. In the case of a person under the age of forty years, without first placing the "accommodation" (involuntary focusing effort) at rest by means of drops.

As I said in the preceding article on cataract, the condition may be well advanced before a casual observer would notice anything unusual in the appearance of the victim's eyes. An early diagnosis is to be made only by examination with the ophthalmoscope, an instrument with which the physician can see the interior and the back of the eye. Not all opacities or films or hazes which appear on or in the eyeball are cataracts. Indeed, growths or opacities of the covering membrane of the eye are often mistaken for cataracts.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Rolls Are Futile

I have tried your somersaults faithfully for a long time, but I can't see that they have reduced me one bit. . . .
ANSWER—Whatever made you think they would? I have never suggested such a thing. I will send you instructions for reducing if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, but let the letter show that you are over 19 years of age, and what your height and weight are, otherwise I cannot send such instructions.

The Great Silence

Once more Dr. Brady begs to remind readers that letters addressed improperly, as "city" or "local" are undeliverable. And may we add that communications not properly signed receive no attention, while those stamps are promptly donated to the Salvation Army?

Dry Dandruff

Please recommend some good remedy for a condition of dry, itchy dandruff and falling of hair. (Miss E. H. S.)
ANSWER—Shampoo your own hair once a week, using any good toilet soap, or if the hair is dark, liquid tar soap, and rinsing repeatedly first with warm then with colder water. Once a day rub well into the scalp about a teaspoonful of this lotion:

Sallylic acid 40 grains
Resorcin 40 grains
Castor oil 1 dram
Alcohol 4 ounces

(This may be scented with a drop or two of any perfume, if desired. Or any good toilet water (sufficiently alcoholized) may be substituted for the alcohol. Very light or gray hair is sometimes stained yellowish by resorcin.)

Nonriching Foods

Kindly advise me which foods will be most nourishing and most easily assimilated by my son, five years old, who has Pott's disease of the spine. (Mrs. A. P. E.)
ANSWER—I do not know which foods are deemed easily assimilated. But I will send you suggestions for feeding normal children if you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope. The diet would be the same, I suppose, for a child with tuberculosis of the spine.

Twenty-Five Years Ago

Wednesday, Dec. 18, 1895

Peter Tubbs of Seymour, chairman of the county board, was in the city on business.

George Plamondon of Chicago arrived in Appleton on a business trip.

Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Bottrell were located at Winona, Minn., where Mr. Bottrell was employed by the Western Railway Wrecking association.

Charles W. Brown was packing his household goods preparatory to his removal to Chicago, where he was to be employed in the Field museum.

The house of representatives passed a bill authorizing President Cleveland to appoint a commission to investigate the disputed Venezuelan boundary matter and appropriated $100,000 for expenses of such commission.

E. E. McCord of Chicago stopped in Appleton while on his way back from a trip to the north. He said that the snow had disappeared as far north as Ironwood.

A deed was recorded in the register of deeds of this county transferring from William Dammer to Louis Metzler a farm of 159 acres in the town of Seymour. The consideration was $10,000.

Schlafli & Barrett placed an order for 100 bicycles of various makes, one of the largest orders ever placed by a local firm.

Merchants were advertising Christmas goods at attractive prices. Among the heaviest advertisers were the Continental, Joseph Spitz, Pettibone's, Spaulding's, W. D. Wharton, Rudolph Schwartz, Green & Schreier, D. B. Bailey, Arnold Paerboom, Salomon Brown, and K. F. Keller & Sons.

Koehn & Maxfield were advertising creamery butter at 25 cents per pound.

The second entertainment of the Young Men's club course at the Congregational church was given by William Hawley Smith, the dilettante.

SHE SHOOTS 'EM FROM BACK DOOR

Frankfort, Ky.—Mrs. Jackson Morris, wife of Kentucky's adjutant general, is so handy with a gun that when she wants a chicken killed, she merely steps to the back door, takes aim with her 22 rifle, and the chicken falls with a bullet in its head. She uses a gun brought from Belgium by the adjutant general and presented to his little son.

A Blow To Chivalry.

—By Frederic J. Haskin.

Washington, D. C.—Is the system of formal courtesy with which most treat women a sign of respect or of scorn? Does it put women on a pedestal, or brand her an inferior?

These questions are just now the subject of a good deal of debate among advanced feminists, and it is even possible that some pronouncement on the subject may be made by a leading woman's organization.

No longer is it safe for a man to discriminate against women. That is, not if she happens to be a feminist of the most advanced school.

These radicals say that hat tipping, far from signifying respect, means simply that the man regards woman as a weak and helpless creature. They dig back into the romantic days of chivalry and produce data showing that the bold, brave knights used to remove their weighty helmets in the presence of anyone who was to be trusted or harmless. Women came in this second group. There may have been other reasons why the knights made a lady's presence a regular excuse to disengage with their head pieces. Probably the weight made their heads ache. Probably, too, they liked their feminine friends to see their noble features. But the big idea, whether they were conscious of it at all times or not, was that woman was a thing apart and not to be taken seriously.

The same principle, according to the feminists, has come down to us in other bits of gallantry which in their true meaning proclaim woman's inferiority. This is true of a man walking on the outside of the pavement to guard a woman against any danger from the street, and also of a man rising to give a woman a seat in a street car.

The first is obviously an act of protection, based on the idea of woman's fragility. Regarding the street car conduct there is some controversy. The advance guard of feminism finds that when a man rises in a public place to resign his seat to a woman he is making a special concession to her sex, especially her fragility. If the woman is able-bodied, the insinuation is not exactly a compliment. Therefore, they say, the pantomime of exchanging positions on a street car can be eliminated and social intercourse will be one of honest, sensible basis.

Formality Versus Consideration

Most of the woman, however, even those who prefer not to accept favors from men when offered on a basis of special consideration for their sex, agree that very often a man is to be applauded for giving his seat to someone else. Common politeness—not offensive chivalry demands that an old person of either sex, a woman with a baby, a cripple, or a sick person, should be seated in a street car or waiting room. Some concede that a man can even surrender his seat to a tired-looking woman of any age without implying that she is a mere creature to be looked after. And, of course, some women say that they like to see a man show consideration for them, whatever it implies.

Ancient ideas of woman's place in society still guide us when it comes to many social formalities. In some places it is still held the correct thing for a man to precede a woman upstairs and descend after her. The origin of this is obscure, but we have been told that it could probably be traced to the time when women wore hoop skirts. This fashion, combined with the polite idea of the time that a woman had no legs, would make it proper for a man to conduct himself so that the illusion might remain unbroken. If he descended first, and stood awaiting his fair companion below, either the style in clothing or in decorum would have had to change.

Nowadays, when woman's skirts are knee length and street car steps two feet high, the precaution of a man preceding a woman up a flight of steps is obviously out of date. Recently convention has changed somewhat to allow the man to follow the woman both up and down stairs.

Another threadbare convention is for the women at a dinner party to adjourn to the parlors, leaving the men to smoke and talk in the dining room. This procedure started at medieval banquets when everybody, men and women alike, crammed to the neck on as many kinds of food as the host could pile on an overlaid board. After dinner, the damsels retired, and their lords proceeded to drink themselves to sleep under the table. This dinner party etiquette, which was still justified until recently by the fact that women were supposed to object to cigar smoke, is now a mere hollow form. Certainly few modern women object to the scent of tobacco smoke, and many feel slighted if not invited to help make it.

Some Individual Views

The women do not intend to keep their theories in the conversation stage. There is talk here and there of a public declaration to settle these matters of what is desirable in the way of courtesy from men. It is in this connection that the Woman's Party is considering a bill of rights to be drafted by the national convention of women voters when it meets at the capital next February. This would certainly simplify the situation for perplexed men. Before such a declaration could be made, however, there would have to be a consensus of opinion obtained. So far, there has been no organized attempt to find out where women voters stand on the question, though there is no doubt every woman has her own definite ideas on the subject.

We give here three sample opinions by women who are representatives, and we predict that the convention will have some trouble in reconciling the different factions which will rise to show that lifting a hat is an action of scorn or a gesture of reverence.

Margaret Hatfield, who is a strong believer in woman's equality with man, and who retains her maiden name, though married, expressed the following view:

"There always has been, and I suppose always will be, the chivalry which is founded on women being the mothers of the race. Man's willingness to carry the heavier physical burden is founded on this factual basis. But the chivalry which divides women into two classes, the protected, and the unprotected woman, is intolerable, and the quicker it is done away with, the quicker we will approach real civilization."

Margaret Hatfield found out that hat tipping and other ceremonies were only skin deep in our civilization, when she left a sheltered existence to experience the sensations of a bread winner in a strange city. In nine weeks of the experiment she had had a dozen jobs, all miserably paid and she learned that the unprotected girl doesn't get much in the way of disinterested gallantry from men. She advocates that a man should do away with the outworn, bothersome formalities toward the women he regards as worthy of his protection. In their place she would have him adopt toward all women the same attitude of sensible courtesy that he uses in dealing with men.

A Conservative Viewpoint

Mabel Boardman, the first woman commissioner of the District of Columbia, is opposed to the anti-chivalry crusade. "To discard the courtesies bestowed upon women would mean a loss and not a gain," she told an audience a few days ago. "Chivalry adds to life's values. To dispense with amenities, which have become a habit, and are in no sense a burden, would be a great mistake."

Still another attitude is taken by Anita Politzer, legislative secretary of the woman's party, who said thoughtfully, when questioned:

"Whether the ancient customs of courtesy from men to women continue to be followed is a matter, it seems to me, of the complete indifference to women. All courtesies reflect credit upon the person who offers them and not upon the person to whom they are offered. The lifting of a hat is a graceful act becoming to almost any man, and if it is omitted, the man alone loses."

As for the men, they seem to hesitate to express their sentiments freely. Most of them tip their hats on the streets and remove them in elevators, because they think the women expect it. Some, privately object to the custom on the ground that it is responsible for uncounted colds and cases of pneumonia.

Back in 1664 Samuel Pepys wrote into his diary—"Home to bed, having got strange cold in my head by flinging off my hat at dinner and sitting with the wind in my neck." And ever since, men have grumbled more or less about exposure to drafts in the cause of chivalry.

If Margaret Hatfield and the other progressives are right, men will soon be freed of hat raising responsibilities. These women hold that the custom is slowly dying out anyway, and that if enough women denounce it, it will soon be as obsolete as the old-fashioned bow which required lots of space and more time than the modern man or woman care to give to non-essentials.

THE QUESTION BOX

Q. Is there a trans-Pacific air flight under consideration? If so, what route would be taken? G. A. F.

A. Such a project has been discussed for some time, and aircraft is under construction looking to such a flight. A route has not been decided upon. The choice would be between a flight from San Francisco to Hong Kong, a distance of 7,616 nautical miles, with stops at Honolulu, Wake Island, Guam and Manila, and a flight from Victoria to Yokohama, a distance of 3,500 to 3,700 nautical miles, with stops at Sitka and Unimak Pass.

The northern route would be much shorter, but possibly would offer other problems, such as fogs, to offset this advantage.

Q. Is there a difference between liquor and liqueur? R. A. M.

A. Alcoholic liquors include fermented liquors and wines, malt fermented liquors and wines, and distilled liquors. A liqueur, pronounced with the accent on the last syllable, is a name given to an alcoholic preparation which is flavored or perfumed and sweetened.

Q. Who discovered the Hawaiian Islands? D. E. F.

A. These islands were discovered in 1778 by Captain Cook, who was killed by the natives in February, 1779.

Q. Was the Frankenstein a strange monster created without a soul?

A. "Frankenstein" is the name of a romance by Mrs. Shelley, written in 1818, and also the name of the hero of the story. Frankenstein created a monster, gathering materials from the tomb and dissecting room, which became imbued with a sort of life, and which committed many atrocities. The word is applied to one who is destroyed by his own creation and sometimes incorrectly used to designate the monster itself.

Q. Are there many manufacturing establishments in the District of Columbia? M. A. T.

A. The Census Bureau says that in 1919, there were 692 manufacturing concerns in the District.

If you know him well enough—give underwear.

We'll grant you that undertogs for gift purposes are a trifle personal—and that you should at least know your man by his first name before you mix red ribbon with red flannel.

But that doesn't alter the fact that there are Dads—Brothers—Uncles and Brother-in-laws in this city who would be mighty tickled to receive a pair of tickleless Union Suits on Christmas morning.

Mothers, Sisters and every member of the fair sex except sweethearts—here's a suggestion that will bear thinking over.

Vassar Union Suits in every material that makes for a Merry Christmas.

HUGE CROWD SEES CHRISTMAS PLAY

College Actors Score Success in Two Playlets at Chapel Tuesday Night.

An audience that filled the lower floor of the auditorium of the Lawrence Memorial chapel, witnessed the entertainment presented by the dramatic action class Tuesday evening. "Why the Chimes Rang," a delightful Christmas story was depicted by a group of students.

"Why the Chimes Rang" is a story of two children, denied the privilege of hearing the Christmas festivities at the church, are remembering the fact that they are left out of the fun when their uncle appears and offers to take them. He tells them of the story of how the chimes are to ring only when a fitting gift is laid before the King. Holger, one of the children, sees an old lady and assists her and makes her comfortable, thereby missing the program that he was so anxious to hear. He sobs at his disappointment and the old lady soothes him. He sees a vision in which all the characters are bringing their gifts to the king. Holger only has pennies to give, but when he lays them upon the altar, a miracle takes place—the chimes ring. An angel appears above the altar, and beautiful music is heard.

The scenic effects were remarkable. The gorgeous costumes of the Louis XIV period, and the music, specially arranged for the play, combine to give a wonderful realistic effect.

"A Pair of Lumatics" is a clever farce put on by Erwin Johnson and Miss Marie Puchner. A young man is invited to a reception at an insane asylum, and finding himself bored, seeks an ante room where he is joined by a young woman, the niece of the superintendent. Both young people believe the other insane, and try to get rid of each other. Finally in desperation they both assume the roles of inmates, until a chance remark of the young man reveals the fact that they have mutual friends and the situation is relieved.

Miss Alice Dillon read O. Henry's "Gift of the Magi" in a charming manner.

Miss Gertrude Graves, member of the faculty of the Lawrence Conservatory of Music, directed the music, with Frank Taber, Jr., at the organ.

NEWS OF INTEREST FROM COUNTY AND STATE

EAU CLAIRE OPENS WAR ON BAD MOVIES

Eau Claire—Following the example of the mayor of Superior, the Eau Claire board of education has petitioned the city council to prohibit serial moving pictures and to regulate performances so that all objectionable features may be eliminated from movies and only the highest class of pictures shown. The increase of crime in the city brought the matter to a head, and the petition was based on the belief that serials prove detrimental because of their tendency to excite the more brutal elements in human nature. Special care was asked for pictures shown on Friday, Saturday and Sunday, when school children flock to the movies.

Nearly one hundred members of the Parent-Teachers' association of the high school have presented a request of a similar nature to the council asking elimination of serial pictures, and all scenes of crime and violence that might tend to corrupt the minds of the young.

Enforcement of the anti-cigarette law was also urged upon the mem-

LABOR COUNCIL SEEKS GAS PLANT FOR CITY

Oshkosh—A resolution adopted by the Oshkosh Trades and Labor council, representing all of the local unions, asks the commission council to provide for a specific election at which the question of whether the city shall take steps to acquire the gas and electric lighting plants may be voted on. At present the gas and electric plants are owned by the Oshkosh Gaslight company, which recently obtained an increase in gas rates.

Members of the city council by the association. The Rev. N. K. Tuily, of the First Presbyterian church, discussed the smoking of cigarettes by minors from a moral standpoint. Dr. Roy E. Mitchell from a physical standpoint, Prof. Barney of the high school faculty from a mental standpoint. E. R. Rounds read the law now on the statute books but no longer enforced.

USE STATE MACHINERY TO KEEP ROADS OPEN

Janesville—Snow will be removed from the Janesville-Beloit concrete highway this winter with free use of machinery from the state highways department, according to decision of the joint snow committee of the two cities. Offer of aid from the county was refused because the county board wants such work handled by the county highway commissioner using funds to be raised by private subscription, but makes the committee of the two cities entirely responsible for any damage to the machinery. Funds will be raised as needed and the matter handed through a private contractor. In addition the highways from Janesville to Edgerton, Evansville and Monroe will be kept open, according to plans of the Rotary club and Chamber of Commerce of this city. The large dairying and business suffer a great loss when the highways are closed to traffic.

At the same time efforts will be made by the Chamber of Commerce to keep sidewalks and streets of Janesville free of snow by enforcement of city ordinances. This has not been done in the past and in some cases has resulted in accident and delay to the fire department.

Mrs. John Steinberg of Kimberly, was in the city Saturday on business.

NEW SWITCHBOARD FOR NEW LONDON

City Is Preparing for Service by W. T., L. H. & P. Company.

(Special to Post-Crescent) New London—A special session of the city council was called this week. There had been no provision made for housing the new electric switchboard for the traction company. That matter came up for discussion. Telephone company representatives said they wanted the lines to be built on Spring street instead of Wolf River avenue. They claim that the electric wires running parallel with their lines would detract from the service of the phone company. The franchise granted the traction company, designated certain streets and Wolf River avenue was one of them, and the poles have already been erected. At the telephone company's request no action was taken. The council asked the

LA CROSSE IMPLEMENT FIRM DENIES CHARGE

La Crosse—Asked regarding the report of the federal trade commission alleging agreements between implement manufacturers, J. H. Hirschman, vice-president, La Crosse Plow Co., whose firm was named, said: "The report is not now to me. It was first made public in September. It contains dozens of allegations. The report is self-contradictory, inasmuch as in one section it alleges a combination to boost prices among implement dealers and in another sets forth facts and figures tending to prove farm implements advanced in price less than any article covered in the report."

TWO ARTHURS ARE IN TROUBLE AT KENOSHA

Kenosha—Arthur Peterson was released on probation on his promise not to write any more burning love letters to Lena Maruka. She is only 14 years old and he is 24 and she rather liked the notes, she admitted, but her mother "raised a row" when she found out that Lena and Arthur were planning to elope and hang up their Christmas stockings over the same fireplace. SUPREME COURT TIED: WEST ALLIS IS WINNER

Madison, Wis.—Because the Supreme court was tied on the matter of who should pay for a disputed pavement in West Allis, the city west of Milwaukee won its case and the property holders who protested must settle. The pavement was laid on National avenue years ago and it was necessary to lay a new wearing surface. The cost of this was assessed to the property owners, who sued on the ground that they paid for a pavement there once and that the city ought to keep it in repair. They lost in the Circuit court and appealed. Chief Justice Siebeck, Justices Owen and Vinje were for the property owners paying the bill. Justices Eschweiler, Jones and Rosenberry were for the city paying. Justice Kerwin took no part in the case, being ill. A rule for the court requires affirmance in case of an exactly divided court.

BUYS THEATER AS HOME FOR LEGION AND SCOUTS

Manitowish—George Vits, president of the Aluminum Goods Manufacturing company, was the highest bidder on the Orpheum theatre building, and as a result the local post of the American Legion as well as the Boy Scouts are assured new quarters. Mr. Vits purchased the building for that purpose. Mr. Vits' offer was between $4,000 and $5,000 higher than two other bids submitted. The theatre is the city's largest hall and also the oldest in the city. It was built in 1874. The building will be remodeled to provide suitable rooms, gymnasium and other comforts for the organizations.

MUST PASS HEALTH TESTS TO GET WORK

Milwaukee Health Department Guards Health of Minor Employees.

(Special to Post-Crescent) Madison — Physical examinations are now required in all cases before regular child labor permits are issued in Milwaukee. This policy has been carried out for approximately a year by the industrial commission, in cooperation with the Milwaukee health department.

No regular permit is issued unless a physician has certified that the child is physically qualified for employment. Children who have serious defects, which are not entirely disqualifying, are granted provisional permits and subsequently called in for reexaminations. In this manner it is possible for children to earn enough money to pay for having their teeth fixed and other defects corrected. Practically all physical examinations of children applying for permits are made free of charge by the city health department. From March 15 to November 1 of this year, 3,082 children applied for regular permits in Milwaukee. Of these only one-half 1,505, were found to have no serious physical defects. Of the other 1,593 children, 310 were granted regular permits because the defects found were not considered sufficiently serious to require re-examination. Provisional permits were granted to 1,282 children, among whom there were 940 cases of seriously defective teeth and 151 cases of trouble with tonsillitis and adenoids. Through this method of granting only provisional permits the majority of these children have now corrected these defects, and have been able to earn enough money to pay for the necessary medical and dental treatment.

In other states physical examinations for permits have meant merely the refusal of permits to children in a very serious condition. Under the Wisconsin plan permits are usually refused only in comparatively few cases in which employment is positively harmful. In other cases the children are aided in correcting the defects found through the system of provisional permits.

Mrs. N. Stone and Mrs. R. Glasberg of Neenah, visited friends here Sunday.

Uncle Sam 20-30 FARM TRACTOR

U. S. TRACTOR & MACHINERY CO. MENASHA, WISCONSIN

Bigness Necessary for Service

IN some farm operations, in many manufacturing lines, and, more particularly, in refining and distribution of petroleum products, large scale operations are essential to insure maximum economy and service.

The production of crude oil varies but little on account of seasonal changes, and the refining processes are continuous operations.

The consumption of petroleum products, however, varies widely with the season. In summer, consumption far outstrips production, while during the winter months the reverse is true.

To prepare himself for the summer rush, the oil refiner, who is ambitious to render a maximum service, must operate his refineries at full capacity throughout the year, and must provide adequate storage to take care of his surplus output during the winter months, and store it against a day of maximum demand when the country roads and city boulevards are crowded with machines, and the farmer has his tractor in the field.

To perform this service requires the investment of huge sums of money, and the maintenance of a complete organization at all times.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is ambitious to be a leader in the petroleum industry. It is ambitious to render to the people of the Middle West as near a perfect service as care, thought, and adequate resources can devise.

In carrying on its business, the Company has invested more than 185 million dollars; it operates four large refineries in which it manufactures the many varieties of petroleum products needed by the consuming public.

It operates 3215 bulk stations, more than 1000 filling stations, and a fleet of nearly 4000 tank delivery trucks.

Its permanent organization consists of about 23,000 efficient loyal men and women, working under one head, to render a service which makes it possible for you to get a gallon of gasoline, or a quart of oil, or a pound of grease, when you want it, and wherever you may be.

65 Year Old Land Patent Filed In Register Office

Land Grant Signed by President.
Pierce in 1855 Is Offered for Record.

To all whom these presents shall come, greeting. Whereas in pursuance of the act of congress approved Sept. 28, 1850, entitled an act granting hourly land to certain officers and soldiers who have been engaged in the military service of the United States, warrant number 22,492, for 80 acres issued in favor of Polly Olin, widow of Gideon Olin, private, (apparently Spanish) company, New York volunteers, two services, war of 1812, has been returned to the general land office with evidence that the same has been duly located upon the south half of the southeast quarter of section 6, township 22 north, range 15 east, in the district of land subject to sale at Menasha, Wis., containing 80 acres according to the official plat of survey of the state land returned to the general land office by the surveyor general.

"Now, know ye that there is therefore granted by the United States unto the said Polly Olin the tract of land above described to have and to hold the said tract of land with appurtenances thereof unto the said Polly Olin, and to her heirs and assigns forever.

"In testimony whereof, I, Franklin Pierce, president of the United States, have caused these letters to be made patent, and the seal of the general land office to be hereunto affixed.

"Given under my hand at the city of Washington the second day of April, 1855."

FARMER TO BECOME HIS OWN SALESMAN

C. R. Blanchard Sees Tendency
Toward New and Sounder Marketing Methods.

There is a gradual tendency among farmers to adopt sounder business methods. This desire is hastened by the adverse situation confronting the tiller of the soil this year. The change will probably come through an organization of farmers with power enough to bring about needed marketing remedies.

This is the belief of C. R. Blanchard, owner of a modern dairy farm near Seymour, who visited in Appleton Monday. Mr. Blanchard spent most of the summer in the employ of one of the large sugar companies and obtained views of many farmers on the subject.

"The farmer has given all his attention to production," said Mr. Blanchard, "and has let somebody else tend to the marketing or sales end of him. He has not regarded himself as a business man in the past, but has been willing to accept any situation that may confront him."

Watching the Market
"I have noticed a change," continued Mr. Blanchard, "the farmer is beginning to study marketing. He is reading about it every day. He is trying to view it from every angle and watches every new turn. The telephone and the rural mail delivery keep him in instant touch with each variation in price or conditions. He will soon learn how to size up conditions for himself."

"It has been an advantage to the farmer to receive a good price for his produce the last season or two. We admit we laid away a little money but we face losses now. The trouble is that prices of agricultural products were the last to go up, and the first wholesale slashing of prices was aimed at us."

Organization Growing
"We have been at the mercy of interests that could control the market," Mr. Blanchard states, "and that it what we must get away from. The farmers are becoming pretty well organized. They will gain strength enough some of these days so they can control the situation themselves."

UNCLE SAM ADDS TO THRIFT SERIES

Government Will Offer Attractive Securities to Small Investor in 1921.

Uncle Sam is offering new inducements for the small investor in 1921. Two new treasury savings securities will be added to the thrift series, a one dollar certificate and a $25 certificate.

The dollar certificate will be bright red, imprinted with a green tint and will bear the portrait of Alexander Hamilton, first secretary of the treasury. It will bear no interest, but when 25 of these are accumulated they may be exchanged for the $25 certificate, drawing interest similar to the $5 thrift stamp.

The entire thrift series will be issued in 1921, from the 25 cent savings stamp up to the $1,000 treasury certificate. More denominations to suit the means of almost every investor are provided under the new plan. The securities will mature January 1, 1926.

A demand from the American Federation of Labor and fraternal and women's organizations for a safe investment for the working man led the government to provide securities with in reach of all, and in convenient form so an accumulation of the smaller ones could be exchanged for the larger. The $25 certificate will be sold for $20.60 in January, for which the owner will be paid $25 in 1926. The plan of sale and interest is the same as for the $5 thrift stamp.

Treasury savings certificates draw interest at four per cent, compounded quarterly and are exempt from state and local taxes, and from normal federal income tax. They are redeemable substantially on demand. Their sale will be conducted mostly through the postoffice.

They will be able to say what they should get and won't have to face these losses such as are prevalent now. I have spent about $2,000 equipping my farm with machinery that will do three times what one man could do. I had to do it to keep up with conditions, but what good does it do me if I cannot realize as much off a $10,000 crop as I would on a $2,000 one."

Mr. Blanchard is of the opinion that those who have forced prices down to the point of loss will gain nothing by it. The farmer will curtail production when he sees he gets nothing from his work and a serious situation may result.

MAIL FOR SANTA CLAUS ARRIVING

Postoffice Will Give Letters to Anybody Willing to Aid Needy.

Who wants to be Santa Claus for some poor little kiddies that really believe Saint Nick will come down their chimney with presents?

The postoffice has its usual collection of letters addressed to Santa at the North Pole, Appleton and other places. The department at Washington permits the letters to be turned over to persons willing to extend Christmas cheer in needy cases.

To letters are unopened, so the postoffice is not aware if any of the less fortunate children are included. About two dozen letters have already been received and more will probably arrive before Christmas eve.

Children know little about letter writing, but it is interesting to see how they accomplish their object. They borrow or steal a sheet of mother's pink or purple letter paper and an envelope and scrawl their words as best they know how. Most of the letters are sealed and about half bear postage.

Many have no address at all, but just "Santa Claus." Some designate them for the North Pole, one said North street and others have some imaginary address. Spelling savours most of the amateur. It is "Sandy Claus," "Sante Claus," "Sanda Clas," "My Dear Old Santy," and many other departures from the good old fellow's right name.

FRIENDS TELL OTHERS

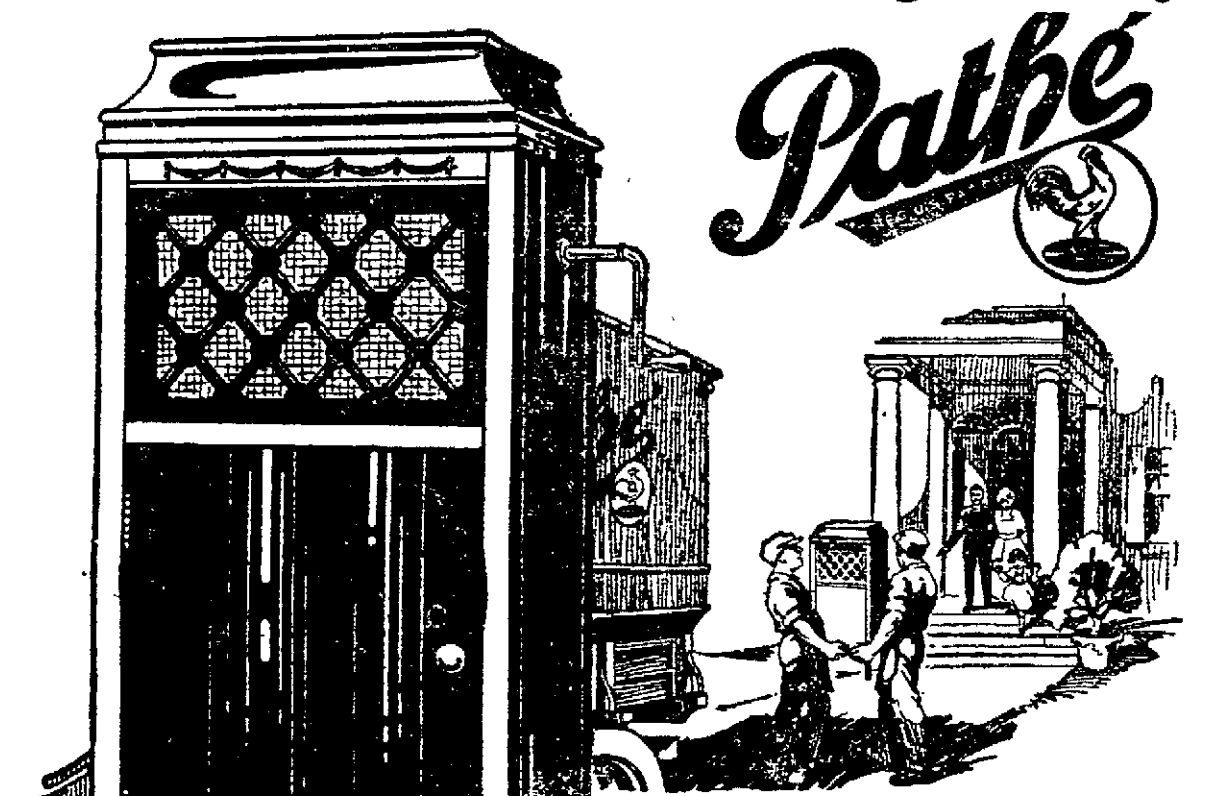

That's How Fame Spreads

H. H. Von Schlick of 210 Third avenue, Pittsburgh, Pa., has received thousands of letters telling him how he has done so much good—one letter tells how his Bulgarian Blood Tea broke up a bad cold quickly; another tells how it saved them from the "flu" or pneumonia; another tells how it helped to knock out rheumatism; another tells how it relieved constipation; another tells how it helped their stomach and bowels.

No wonder it is being used by millions of people praising its great worth as a reliable first-aid family medicine. It will pay every reader of this item to apply at once to their druggist or grocer for a box of Bulgarian Blood Tea—then they will be able to tell the good news to others.

Get Christmas Trees

Christmas trees were obtained by some families this year at no expense. Several swamps in the county are said to contain good-sized trees. Families knowing this have driven to such places in automobiles, chopped down the tree of their preference and brought it home. There are said to be few Christmas trees growing near Appleton.

med at the office of the chamber of commerce and an expert will be placed in charge. It will render such service as will assist the retailer to give his customers every possible advantage.

Bulletins issued by Appleton organizations containing articles on their activities were under discussion by the merchants. It was stated that some collected advertisements, which are financing the bulletin at the expense of the merchant. The retailers adopted a resolution "that the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce oppose the granting of advertising permits to any club or organization for bulletins of any kind." This will probably have considerable weight with the advertising committee of the chamber, whose duty is to sanction such solicitations or reject them.

Attention of the merchants was called by several farmers to the fact that the December stock market fair fell on Saturday, December 25, Christmas day. The farmers felt the date should be changed. It was agreed that the fair should be held on Monday, December 27, instead of, if this was agreeable to the farmers. Notice of the change will be spread broadcast in the rural sections. The division also recommended that the fair be held on the following Monday in all cases where Saturdays fell on holidays.

GUERNSEY BREEDERS IN ANNUAL MEETING TODAY

Drifted roads made it impossible for many members of the Fox River Valley Guernsey Breeders' association to reach Appleton Wednesday morning in time for the opening sessions of the annual meeting. Very little was therefore accomplished up to noon, but the officers expected to have the gathering in full swing early in the afternoon. Dinner was served at Northwestern hotel, where the sessions are being held.

WOMAN'S CLUB TO HELP OLD WORLD SUFFERERS

The community Christmas tree and play which was planned by The Woman's Club for Christmas Eve at Lawrence Memorial chapel will not be given, it was decided at a meeting of the Sport's Council of the recreation department at The Woman's Club rooms Tuesday evening. The plans were abandoned because it was found that most of the girls who were to take part are working evening, and it would be too great an undertaking for them.

The council voted to give $25 to the Armenian Relief fund and also $25 to the German children. A committee was appointed to determine what articles were needed at the club rooms, and it was decided to buy a Christmas present for the rooms. The sum of $2 a month was set aside for purchasing sheet music.

Dempsey Keeps Title But Gets Bad Beating

Bill Brennan Gives Champion Hardest Fight of His Career But Is Knocked Out in Twelfth Round — Challenger Wins First Five Stanzas.

By United Press Leased Wire
New York—The world's heavy-weight crown still rests on the searing brow of Jack Dempsey. But the face under it was somewhat changed today.
The left ear of the champion was smashed and torn, his lips were puffing out and his jaws were swollen and his eyes were puffy and red.
He was in bed, tired from going the longest distance of his career and taking his worst beating.
Bill Brennan, the big husky Chicago heavyweight, stayed 12 rounds with the "man killer" last night in Madison Square Garden and in those twelve rounds he made the champion work the hardest he has ever worked and take more than he has ever taken.
Two vicious punches in the stomach and a smashing right on the head in the middle of the twelfth round folded Brennan up and he fell on his head and elbows in a neutral corner, knocked out.
He tried gamely to rise and stay out the few remaining rounds, but the steady pounding on his head and stomach, rights and lefts that whacked against him like blows of an air riveter, had sapped every bit of his endurance.
"Take the count," his seconds were screaming from his corner. He took the count—because he had to.
Close to 15,000 spectators gathered with the expectation of going home early. Instead they stayed late and were given the surprise of their life.
Starts With Rush
The crowd was started by seeing the supposed easy mark, the victim of the public's demand to see Dempsey in action, rush out of his corner in the first round and smack the champion on the jaw.
They were more startled to see Brennan carrying the fight to the champion and leading all the time, twice with rights in the second and brought a black scowl and bared teeth to the face of Dempsey.
The third round passed and the crowd began to wonder. It was wondering more and more up to the eighth when the tide began to turn.
Wins Five Rounds
Brennan had won the first five rounds and was even up to that eighth when Dempsey got through two crushing blows to his stomach. The Chicago fighter winced with pain and he went to his corner open-mouthed and tagged.
From then on Dempsey won. Although tiring himself, the champion had more endurance. He had more steam in his punches and more energy to get around.
"Dempsey was a bit over trained and slow," Jack Kearns said today. The champion was drawn to a very fine point when he entered the ring. He was pasty in the face and didn't have a superfluous ounce. He was cold, too, and it took him five rounds to get warm enough to show anything like his form. Dempsey has had only two fights in seventeen months. He showed the result of his inactivity. He missed frequently. His timing was slow and his eye was off. True, he won his fight and retained the championship but he lost a lot of his "cool." He had taught the fans to expect a victory in a punch or so in a round or so and because he took so long to get a hard, strong fighter, the crowd filed out with the thought that—"comebods goin' to get 'im."

BRENNAN WANTS TO FIGHT JACK AGAIN

Defeated Challenger Confident That He Can Do Better Next Time.

New York—Bill Brennan wants a return match.
Jack Dempsey, the heavyweight champion, in his apartment on Riverside drive, gave vent to an ejaculation of surprise when given this information today.
"Why, didn't he get enough?" the champion asked.
The heavyweight mumbled some surprise that the Chicago fighter whom he knocked out in the twelfth round last night hadn't had enough of his punches.
"I'm not making matches but you can say that I have always been willing to meet them all and I haven't changed my mind," he said.
Dempsey took more punishment last night than he ever received. He left the ring with the marks of battle on his face—a "tin ear" in the making, swollen, cut mouth and red eyes.
"Sure I got some marks but I'm not ashamed of that. I've been out twice this morning and I'm going home tomorrow with them," he asserted.
Jack Kearns, his manager, was not ready to talk about future matches.
"We're going out to Seattle tomorrow for a week. We're going to the coast the first of the year and then we'll book up some fights and get ready for Villard," he said.
"Pretty good shape" today.
"Dempsey beat me because he's the best fighter in the world. Seems to me I made a good showing against him and I'd be willing to try again. I want a return match. I learned a lot of things last night that would help me in the next fight."
"I wasn't clear out last night when I took the count. I was sort of dazed when I went down but I got up at what I thought was the count of nine. I was wrong I guess because I was surprised when the referee pushed Dempsey back and pointed me to my corner."

"Here's Real Tobacco" says the Good Judge

That gives a man more genuine chewing satisfaction than he ever got out of the ordinary kind. Smaller chew, lasts longer—so it costs less to chew this class of tobacco.
And the good, rich tobacco taste gives a world of satisfaction.
Any man who uses the Real Tobacco Chew will tell you that.

LAWRENCE PLAYS 2 GAMES TOMORROW

Industrial Teams Will Furnish Opposition in First Two Battles.

Lawrence college basketball teams will open their season tomorrow evening with games against industrial squads. The first string is scheduled to play the Kimberly-Clark quint while the second stacks up against the Kaukauna squad. Coach McChesney hopes to use a large number of his men in order to try them out under actual battle conditions. This will probably be the only contest until after the holidays.
The first team will probably be started with Wheeler at center, Basling, Morrison and Panchner alternating as forwards; Soronson and Elliot at guards. The second team will line up with Clanton at center; Kubitz, Peering, Rose and Warwick in the forward positions; Regal, Smith and Gebhardt as guards.
The following schedule has been arranged for after the holidays:
Jan. 7—Stevens Point Normal at Appleton.
Jan. 14—Beloit at Beloit.
Jan. 15—Milton at Milton.
Jan. 21—Ripon at Ripon.
Jan. 28—Carroll at Appleton.
Feb. 7—Michigan School of Mines at Appleton.
Feb. 11—Beloit at Appleton.
Feb. 18—Ripon at Appleton.
Feb. 25—Carroll at Waukesha.

COLLEGE MAT MEN IN FINALS TONIGHT

Splendid Card Is Arranged for College Gymnasium—Titles Are at Stake.

The collegiate wrestling season opens tonight when Referee Art Vandrow introduces the men in the first bout of the Lawrence College school championships and interclass tournament at Lawrence gym. Lawrence is holding an open house for this first event of the season, everyone invited and no admission charged, in order to give everyone the chance to judge intercollegiate wrestling. A large crowd is expected.
Both Kubitz and Thomas, principals in what will probably be the most exciting bout of the evening, are in fine condition and are confident of winning.
Freshmen have the edge for class honors because more members of this class qualified in the finals than from the other classes but sophomores and juniors have a good chance of winning the class honors.
The Lawrence schedule this year will probably include the state university, possibly at Appleton, St. John's Military Academy and Northwestern University. The local Y. M. C. A. will be the first team to be met after the Christmas holidays, followed by the Kimberly-Clark and Holy Name teams. The Kimberly team appears to be the dark horse of the local wrestling situation and this meet will probably excite the greatest interest of the season, outside of the collegiate meets.
Kubitz, star athlete and football captain, qualified for the finals of the Lawrence College wrestling championships by defeating Rose by two straight falls at the college gymnasium Monday night.

LOSE TO KAUKAUNA BY 18 TO 17 SCORE

St. Paul Lutherans Make Good Showing in Lively Game at Kaukauna.

St. Paul Lutheran basketball team came within one point of winning from the strongest team in the Fox River valley league Monday evening when it locked horns with Kaukauna's crack quintet. The final score was 18 to 17.
The Appleton boys are not disheartened over the loss of their third game this season, as they believe they demonstrated a complete reversal of form and new power in this game. Nothing short of victory is anticipated in the next game. New players are expected to make the team as strong as any in the league.
Kaukauna led the first half with a score of 10 to 8. St. Paul team came back strong in the second. Ott played a star game for Kaukauna, scoring three baskets and a free throw. Voeks shot four baskets for Appleton and scored one free throw. Falk played a good game at guard for the home boys. The lineup was:

THANKS FELLOW-WORKERS FOR VALUABLE ADVICE

"I was actually astonished! I never realized a medicine could do for a person what Kozak did for me. I feel like a new man, have a great appetite, can eat anything I relish and still have no ill effects afterwards."
So declared Russell Weymeier, 1279 National avenue, Milwaukee, a fireman on the C. M. & St. P., Saturday. "Lately my stomach had been giving me trouble. I lacked energy, couldn't sleep right and always felt more or less depressed. An engineer recommended Kozak. I got a bottle. I have him to thank for the advice. Kozak soon increased my appetite and aided the digestion of the food. Renewed energy, restful sleep and more strength followed. I'll never be without Kozak in the house."
Kozak the "$10.000 Formula" sold here by Schlicht Bros. In New London by Spearbraker; Hortonsville, by Gitter; Neenah by Marsh Bros; Kaukauna Drug Co. Sent prepaid upon receipt of $1.35.

ESCH SLATED FOR POST IN CABINET

Washington Believes Badger Congressman Will Be Given Good Job.

Washington, D. C.—When Congressman John J. Esch, La Crosse, defeated in the recent election after twenty-two years of service in the house, closes his desk it will not be to go home, but to move on to some important position here.

At least, that is the tip of some of the well informed persons in Washington, both in and out of the Wisconsin delegation. They say Mr. Esch will become a member of Mr. Harding's cabinet or a member of the interstate commerce commission at a salary of $12,000 a year.

He has been prominently mentioned for secretary of commerce, but should he fail to get this place, the other appointment may come his way.

However, it should be remembered in connection with tips from Washington that Mr. Harding has made no promises as yet either concerning cabinet jobs or other appointments. Then, too, the fact that Prof. B. H. Meyers, formerly of Madison, is a member of the interstate commerce commission might be used in an argument against the appointment of another Wisconsin man on that board.

But it is true that there is a very cordial sentiment in both the senate and the house in favor of Mr. Esch as member of the commission, and it follows that steps will probably be taken to crystallize this sentiment at the proper time.

Some of the Badger congressmen are outspoken in favor of this appointment. They say that after years of hard work and study Mr. Esch is eminently qualified for public service.

For years one of the influential members of the house, his defeat was regarded as a distinct loss, not that J. D. Beck, Viroqua, who will succeed him, may not prove a valuable member of the interstate commerce commission, but because Mr. Esch had a tremendous record before committees, and is a recognized authority on interstate traffic and transportation questions.

De Sandman—Protheroe-Griffin—Criterion Quartet—Male quartet. $1.00

De Sandman's comin', Honey, For to take you far away, He's comin' on his tip-toe, When the twilight's gettin' gray.

"De Sandman" never, never succeeds in making your eyelids heavy on Christmas Eve—does he children?—But when it begins to get dark under the chairs on Christmas Day then—let this excellent quartet tell you about the sleep-bringer. You will understand every syllable and the tune will stay in your hearts as a pleasant memory. This is a record of real charm which big folks—as well as little folks—will enjoy.

THESE CHRISTMAS RECORDS are musical tabatures etched with the joys, hopes and memories—with the love and laughter of youth and age.

Since that time when, Shepherds watched their flocks by night, all seated on the ground, The angel of the Lord came down and glory shown around.

Christmas has meant "joy", and it is in this spirit that these recordings are released. With them go our good wishes and greetings to the host of Brunswick friends who have made possible our progress.

5034 Auld Lange Syne—Words by Burns. Old Scotch Air—Shannon Four—Male quartet with orchestra.

We all know it and love it. "Bobby" Burns' immortal lines wedded to this old Scotch tune have become a part of our lives. What better time to sing it than at this loving Christmas season when about the tree and hearth are gathered the dear ones from afar.

Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And never brought to mind? Should auld acquaintance be forgot, And days o' langae syne?

The spirit of this song lives in the sympathetic rendition here given it by the Shannon Quartet. The orchestral accompaniment is refreshing in newness and strength. Hark to the chiming as their tones float down on the Christmas air and—

For auld lange syne, my dear, For auld lange syne, We'll tak' a cup o' kindness yet, For auld lange syne.

DRIVERS ESCAPE INJURY IN SUNDAY ACCIDENTS

A near wreck occurred on the Shiocton road Sunday evening when a closed touring car left the highway at a turn. The car jumped a ditch, plunged through a fence and ran along over the field for about 200 feet toward a farm house.

The name of the driver was not learned, but it was said that he was uninjured. There was a dense fog in the lowlands and clear weather on the hilltops, making it impossible for a driver to know when his view was to be cut off.

It is also stated that several young men driving a Ford touring car met with an accident on the same road Sunday. Their car ran into the ditch and broke a wheel off, but none of the occupants was injured.

APPLETON SLOGANS ARE ATTRACTING ATTENTION

"How are things in the center of the world's cheese industry?" asks Paul Stephens, Chicago, editor of "American Farming." In a letter addressed to Hugh G. Corbett, managing secretary of the chamber of commerce.

Which shows that Appleton's slogans are attracting attention. Circulated all over the United States on letters sent out by Appleton firms, the city's advantages and points of fame are gradually becoming known. Mr. Corbett urges greater use of the slogans to boost Appleton along.

FLORIDA CITY IS IN MIDST OF HUGE BOOM

Orlando, Fla., has not felt the business depression noticeable in other parts of the country, but on the contrary is experiencing a boom according to letters that Carol and Carleton Stowe have written to relatives here. Ninety-four new residences were built during the month of November and the number for December will exceed one hundred. The city is filled with tourists, many of whom find it almost impossible to secure accommodations. The shipping season of fruit to the northern states is now in full swing. Oranges and grape fruit are the principal fruits shipped and the crop is above the average.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Henderson of Cleveland, Ohio, are guests at the home of their son, E. R. Henderson. They expect to remain until after the holidays.

SCHOOL FAIRS PROVE VALUE TO CHILDREN

During the last three years nearly every school district in Outagamie county has held one or more school fairs. The beginning of the past school year presented the school fairs of the county at their height. Over one hundred districts sent carefully prepared exhibits to the county school fair that was held in the auditorium at Black Creek.

The valuable training that these fairs gave was illustrated at the county fairs last fall. Many children made entries in competition with their elders, and because they had learned what to select and how to prepare it for the judges' opinion, the children carried off many of the first prizes.

Mrs. L. F. Sanders and Miss Blanche Glass of Kaukauna, were business callers in Appleton Monday.

114 Eggs A Day Now Instead Of 25 A Day

This Means About $126 Extra Income Per Month for Mrs. Ropp.

"I have 200 hens, including late pullets not old enough to lay, and had been getting 25 to 30 eggs a day. Then I tried Don Sung and am now getting 107 to 114 eggs a day," Mrs. Essie B. Ropp, R. R. 2, Little Chute, Ind.

This increase of 7 dozen a day in the middle of winter, at 60c a dozen, makes $126 extra income per month. Don Sung for her 200 hens cost about $2.50. It paid her, and we guarantee it will pay you.

Give your hens Don Sung and watch results for one month. If you don't find that it pays for itself and pays you a good profit besides, simply tell us and your money will be cheerfully refunded.

Don Sung (Chinese for egg-laying) is a scientific tonic and conditioner. It is easily given in the feed, improves the hen's health and makes her stronger and more active. It tones up the egg-laying organs, and gets the eggs, no matter how cold or wet the weather.

You can obtain Don Sung from your druggist or poultry remedy dealer, or send $1.04 (includes tax) for a package by mail. Burrell-Dugger Co., 214 Columbia Bldg., Indianapolis, Ind.

KELLER STUDENTS ON HUNGER STRIKE

Waukegan Pupils Refuse to Follow Instructions of Former Appletonian.

A modified hunger strike is on at the high school at Waukegan, Ill., of which Paul G. W. Keller, former principal of Appleton high school is superintendent. Students tired of the fare of the school cafeteria, patronized a restaurant in the neighborhood. Mr. Keller proclaimed that the students who desired to eat during the rest periods must confine their eating to the school cafeteria.

Twenty students declared a hunger strike, refusing to eat at all during the noon intermission. They denounced the superintendent's action as unreasonable and without due authority, and also that he was trying to coerce them to come to the rescue of a cafeteria that is losing money because the fare is not inviting.

The strikers declared that unless the rule is withdrawn as the result of a conference arranged for Saturday, there would be fifty strikers on Monday.

Harry Kron of Chicago, is visiting relatives here.

POLICE BUS DRESSED UP IN SUNDAY STYLE

Anybody that gets a ride in the "happy wagon" these days will ride in style. The police touring car that has chased automobile thieves, hauled drunks, rushed to fires and done so many other things was completely overhauled, given a dazzling coat of black enamel and was put back into service Tuesday. Its Sunday dress was pitifully marred by wind and weather, but she's some bus now—good enough for even high class criminals if any happen to hit Appleton.
